THE TYPICAL AMERICAN. A Pacific Coast Oracle Says He Has Not Yet Appeared.

In a recent conversation with the Prince of Wales, Mr. Biaine selected Chauncey M. Depew as the typical American, and Mr. Depew in his turn pointed out Governor Alger of Michigan as the typical American. The truth is that neither was right, nor can the typical American be identified, for the very conclusive and satisfactory reason that he does not A few years ago the English were disposed to accept the overdrawn and exaggerated portrait of a slab-sided, lantern-jawed down east yankee as the typical American, and he passed into history as Brother Jonathan. His picture still adorns the pages of the comic illustrated papers both at home and abroad, but it has come to be well understood even in Great Britain, that it is pure caricature, and that if such a portrait could resemble any Americans it would be only those from a small portion of the United States, a portion, too, where culture and ele-gance of manner and diction has reached as igh a pitch as anywhere in the world. Later on Bret Harte gave to the world his John Oakhursts and John Hamlins, and then Europeans said: "Behold the typical American, the man born on the Atlantic coast, retaining his early education, grace and suavity, but overlaid with the bronzed hue of the boundless prairies and lofty mountains of the great West and grown into a distaste for convention alities and Philistinism." But we know that the Oakhursts and Hamlins were purely imaginary and were types of nothing that ever did

We have had the typical southerner and the typical westerner and the typical Yankee. Across the pages of our literature have marched pikes and hoosiers and tar-heels and crackers; we have been inundated with floods of characer sketches and dialect tales; we have compared the native of one part of the country with the native of another, and still the typical American has not been discovered. America is entirely too cosmopolitan to fur-sish, as yet, any one of her citizens who can be ccepted as the typical American. Our popula-on is to-day more diverse than when the thiren colonies were settled. As a nation we are a unit, but as a people, in the ethnological sense, we have not yet commenced to exist. And why should we? No race was ever formed in so of America, to say nothing of the constant accessions to our population from every country May be in 1,000 years from now we shall have begun to develop the typical American, but not short of that time. We can point the Prince of Wales to types of certain American traits and capabilities, and of these Governor Alger is a good example, notably of the oppor-tunities for advancement, which our country offers to young men of energy and industry, but that is as far as we can go. As for the thor-oughly typical American he is non-existant.

A SOLDIER AND A DIPLOMAT.

The Funeral Services of General Kilpatrick and Minister Manning. NEW YORK, Oct. 19 .- Yesterday the mains of the late General Kilpatrick were renoved from the governor's room in the chy hall and taken to the West Shore railroad for West Point. The train bearing the remains arrived there at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and was met at the station by a detachment of cavalry and several hundred people, including the officers and residents of the post. At 2 o'clock the cortege at the station began its march up the picresque road leading to the plain. At the top of the hill the cadets were drawn up in line and fell in ahead of the remains and the march to the metery was taken up along the road skirting In the cemetery in "heroes' row" was a newly nade grave with a big pine box on one side and a heap of earth covered with evergreens on the other. About this gathered the throng, and the epartment commander of the New Jersey G. A t. read a prayer. The soldiers lifted the coffin nto the box and lowered it into the grave. Father Burke, of West Point, then read the burial service of the Catholic church. The birds must know. Who wisely sings?

Will sing as they;
The common air has generous wings,
Songs make their way.
No messenger to run before.

Devising plan;
No mention of the place or hour
To any man;
No waiting till some sound betrays
A listening ear;
No different voice, no new delays,
If steps draw near.

"What bird is that? Its song is good,
And eager eyes
Go peering through the dusky wood
In glad surprise.
The late at night, when by his fire
The traveler sits.
Watching the flames grow brighter, higher,
The sweet song filts
By snatches through his weary brain
To help him rest,
When next he goes that road again
An empty nest
On leafless bough will make him signath, me! Last spring
Just here I heard, in passing by,
That rare bird sing!"

But while he sings, remembering

The common air has generous wings, songs make their way.

To the Front with THIS PROPOSITION:

Balance in 1, 2 and 3 Years. At low prices and on the above terms we vill sell lots in HOLYROOD. M'KINNEY HEIGHTS BELGRAVIA.

The grading of Agnes and Belleiontaine avenues, the paving of Walrond avenue, and the extension of the Metropolitan Cable line, giving cable transportation to all of the above named additions, show conclusively that attention is being strongly directed to the northeast part of the city, and that greater development and enhancement of values will occur in that section in the next twelve months than in any other. We can offer you bargains in lots that will surprise you. Also several choice acre tracts. We are having an active demand for real estate in the above mentioned section. Call and see us.

ROOMS 36, 38 & 40,

TIMES BUILDING.

These illustrations will give you an idea of our astonishment when we discovered the price of a small piece of acre property within three blocks of street car line abroady in operation, with a fare of 5 cents to the Junction of Ninth and Main and a 20 min. ride to get there. The reason it was so cheap was the fact that there was absolutely no broad, beautiful road laid out from it to the great 100 foot wide Boulevard, an access of which the former owner never dreamed. Now, as this road didn't cost the present owners of the property a cent, they propose to divide the profits with you, in order to close out the whole addition at once, prices being as follows:

50 Foot Lots......$150, or $ 3 per foot. 50 Foot Lots.....$200, or $ 4 per foot. 50 Foot Lots......$250, or $ 5 per foot. 50 Foot Lots......$300, or $ 6 per foot. 50 feet, on grade, east front.....$600, or $12 per foot.

50 foot lot, corner, with shade trees, $900, or $18 per foot. Thus allowing you to make 100 per cent on your investment at once without waiting for future rises, and even after adding on your 100 per cent the bargain could not then be duplicated. We will be pleased to show you the ground. EASY TERMS. No money required from builders.

nameless details of a lady's toilet, countless in number, captivating in beauty and altogether bewildering. It is stated on authority that cannot be impeached that the hairs of your head are numbered, but the individual who would attempt to number the articles of feminine bric-a-brac that are stored away in that corner store would have no hairs to number should he live to finish the job. The writer of this advertisement might as well at-tempt to launch the Great Eastern in a finger bowl as to attempt to enumerate half of the items in that room that are called for a hundred times a day To perfect perpetual motion and set the world a seesawing would be a picnic compared to such an enumeration. That room is always a busy one, but we intend that it shall be a busier one this week. It is a fact, universally conceded, that there is not a similar stock in the West to be compared with this in extent, variety, and excellence and we propose to aid these advantages during the balance of this week by special prices in
